Peace of mind using Rainwater.

One of the most common queries we get this time of year is from people wanting to fix the problem of dirty rainwater. Now we are at the start of winter, rainwater tanks are at their lowest level for the year. As the new season rains start, then these inflows cause the water to be stirred up, making water look dirty, taste bad and in some cases be dangerous to your family's health.

There are a number of things that can be done to fix your specific problem:

1. Stop new dust and litter entering your tank. Make sure you divert the first flows of the year so the dust and litter built up over summer doesn't get into your tank. Install leaf catchers so any more leaves and rubbish is stopped from getting into the tank.

2. Treat the water so that any built up bacteria is killed off. We use and recommend Davey Aquasafe is added to tank at least every 6 months. Aquasafe is completely non-toxic and safe to use around your family.

3. Install water filtration to clean any sediment out of the water before it gets to your house. If you already have filters installed, after the first rains is a good time to replace them.

4. Install Ultraviolet (UV) disinfection after the filters, to keep the water clean and safe. The exposure of your water to UV light destroys microbes that get through the filters ensuring that the water is going to be safe to drink all year round. We sell and recommend the Davey Steriflo. These sturdy and reliable units have been made by Davey in both New Zealand and Australia for around 20 years. We carry the units and a large number of parts in store so you when there is a problem, we can have you back up and running quickly.

At Southern's we can supply, install and service your filtration equipment. If you want to buy the parts and DIY we will help you with fitting and selecting the correct parts.

Routine maintenance will keep your water clean and healthy all year round for complete peace of mind. Our helpful staff can remind you when its due and get the work done quickly and professionally.
